

FHANA Mare (East & West) Show Rules

- All Classes will be judged by KFPS judges.
- Entry fee is $150 per mare.
- If the owner is requesting an inspection for a promotion and the mare was not shown at a 2019 keuring, an upgrade inspection fee of $135 must be paid in addition to the $150 FHANA Mare Show West Class entry fee. The original studbook Registration Certificate must be surrendered to judges if the mare is promoted. All requests for an inspection for a promotion must be entered on the mare show registration form.
- When mares come to the paddock area just prior to their class, a copy of their registration certificate must be presented to the FHANA representative, who will match their microchip number to the number on the registration certificate.
- All mares who meet the eligibility requirements for entry to the mare show and have been inspected during the 2019 inspection year but did not compete to be upgraded are eligible to be inspected for an upgrade for no additional fee. The original studbook Registration Certificate must be surrendered to judges if the mare is promoted. All requests for an inspection for a promotion must be entered on the mare show registration form.
- Youth Champion will be chosen from the top two mares in classes 1 & 2
- Senior Champion will be chosen from the top two mares in classes 3,4, & 5
- Champion and Reserve Champion of the Mare Show will be chosen from the youth champion and senior champion.
- All general FHANA Rules and regulations will be applied.
- Health Requirements: Coggins Certificate is required and must be given to the registrar at the show registration booth.
  - Health Certificate is required if the mare is transported from out of the state.
  - Proof of Flu and Rhino vaccinations within the previous six months
- All participants must complete an entry form, sign a release of liability form, and provide payment with their entry.
- Provisional Kroon mares will be shown with Star mares in the class of their appropriate age group.
- Provisional Model mares will be shown in the Kroon mares.